

Armed robbery of taxi under investigation

BY TRACI BONNEY
Investigation continues of an armed robbery reported Saturday, Dec. 22, according to Hancock County Sheriff's Investigator Nathan Hoda.

Hoda said Deputy Kenny Hurt responded around 7:35 that morning to the armed robbery call. Earl Couch of Lakeshore reported that while driving a taxi cab belonging to George Servies of Bay St. Louis, Couch picked up a man at the south Todd's station on Hwy. 603.

The subject, described as having long blond hair and blue eyes, and wearing a blue-and-white flannel shirt, blue jeans and a jeans jacket, is alleged to have asked Couch to take him to the Todd's station approximately five miles north of the south station.

Couch then reported being told at gunpoint to pull off the road one-half mile north of the south station at Lagan Street.

According to Hurt's report, Couch gave the subject between $200 and $250 in cash upon request. The subject then fled on foot down Lagan Street. Hoda said the gun used is believed to have been a .32 or .38 caliber revolver.

Investigator Matt Karl and Deputy Steve Garber are assisting Hurt in the investigation, Hoda added.

Kenner man arrested in Silver Creek burglary

BY TRACI BONNEY
Hancock County Sheriff's Investigator Matt Karl reported Wednesday that George E. Loar III, 21, of Kenner, La., was arrested in connection with a burglary in the Silver Creek area.

Karl said approximately $12,000 in weapons, ammunition, entertainment and computer equipment were taken from the residence of Warren Winney, but that 95 percent of the stolen items were recovered at Loar's residence and two Kenner pawn shops.

Loar is in custody at the Jefferson Parish Sheriff's Office awaiting extradition, Karl said. "It's possible that there will be one or two more arrests," he added.

Assisting Karl in the investigation were Hancock Sheriff's Deputy Joe Bourgeois and the Kenner Police Department.

Christmas Day burglary suspect turns himself in

BY TRACI BONNEY
A suspect in the Christmas Day burglary of a dwelling turned himself in shortly after allegedly committing the crime, according to Bay St. Louis Police Detective Gus Aime.

Aime said the police dispatcher received a call at approximately 3:12 a.m. from Byron Robert Willis, 20, no address given, who claimed he had broken into and burglarized a residence at 520 St. Francis Street.

When officers arrived at the scene, Aime said, a back window was open and several bottles of liquor had been removed. Lying outside the house was a portable radio, he added.

Aime said Willis claimed to have the owners' permission to be in the house, but when Aime contacted the owners in Alabama, they said Willis did not have permission to enter their residence.

Willis is in the Hancock County jail under $35,000 bond, Aime added.

United Way exceeds goal

The United Way of Hancock County surpassed its goal of $110,000 for the 1990 campaign. The latest reports show $118,578 in pledges and contributions. Among those working on the campaign included, from left, Conrad Mauffray, treasurer; Kay Johnson, funds distribution; Michael Haas Jr., assistant campaign chairman; Ellis C. Cuevas, president; Tim Ryan, campaign chairman; Joanne Lagasse, RSVP executive director; Rev. Charles Clark, chaplain; Hilda Bourg, vice-president; Betsy Ashman, director; A.C. Adam, campaign; Kathy Fernandez, campaign; Jeanne Dean, director; David Treutel Jr., secretary; Martha VanPesi, communications; Lonnie Clayborn, director; and M.J. Landry, United Way of South Mississippi executive director. Hancock, Harrison and Pearl River counties are part of the United Way of South Mississippi with a combined campaign. Kids priority

Thomas wants to make a difference for students

BY JACQUI COCHRAN
The Hancock County School Board has a new member, and he is eager to participate in the shaping of tomorrow's children. His name is Charles Ray Thomas, a native of Meridian and a resident of Catahoula Community in Hancock County. He comes to the board to complete the unexpired term of Beat 2 representative Barbara Dedeaux who resigned because of job location this past October. Thomas comes to the board with a pre-engineering degree. His 1965 degree from Alcorn State University in Lorman qualifies him to teach in building trades.

Thomas brings to the board an experience for which there are no degrees. The experience of a parent.

"I would like to do something to help," said Thomas. Through participation on the school board Thomas hopes to have some effect in helping the boarderline students. "We need to try and reach them," he added.

The students and their needs were the reasons Thomas gives for accepting the school board position.

Thomas feels there are young people who need that outreach of a concerned adult to pull them over the line, making the difference between giving up or going on.

"There are some kids in my neighborhood, who attend North Central Hancock and Hancock High, who are 'bad acting.' I spoke with one in particular, and I told him, the record he was making would follow him the rest of his life. He didn't believe it."

Thomas said the boy began to get feed back from different people, and his behavior began to improve. He did not know if his taking an interest in this street kid, just long enough for a brief conversation had helped, but Thomas is positive in his heart that it did.

He added, "I would like to work mainly for the students, while here. The teachers and other workers are important, but I want most to be there for the kids."

"We need to try to reach them," said Thomas, speaking of the high drop out rate in the

Several injured in two-car accident

BY TRACI BONNEY
Seven people were injured Monday in a two-car accident at the intersection of Hwy. 603 and Kiln-DeLisle Road, according to Hancock Sheriff's Department officer Cpl. Gene Boswell.

Boswell said the incident occurred around 7:30 p.m. Monday. When he arrived at the scene, a fire truck and another law officer were already there, he added.

According to Boswell, the injuries ranged from minor cuts and bruises to broken limbs and internal damage. No one was dead at the scene, he said.

At least 30 passersby assisted at the accident scene, Boswell said — shoppers returning home, off-duty nurses and others. He said some helped control traffic while others wrote the victims' accounts of the incident or talked to the victims to keep them conscious until ambulances arrived to transport them to Hancock Medical Center.

"You wouldn't think that would happen nowadays," he commented. "It was great. Without the help of all those people, it would have been a mess."

"If I could thank everyone who was there, I would."

Further details on the accident were unavailable from the Mississippi Highway Patrol at press time.

Stolen goods recovered in Leetown burglaries

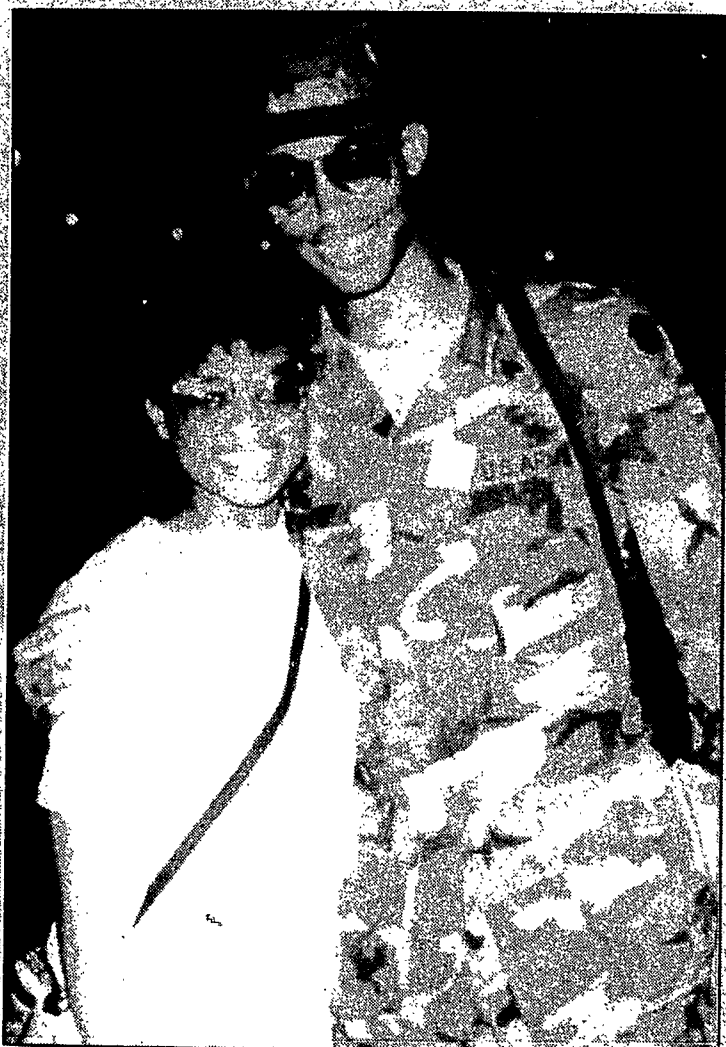

BY TRACI BONNEY
Investigator Nathan Hoda of the Hancock County Sheriff's Department reported Monday the investigation of two burglaries in the Leetown community. Hoda said about $15,000 of stolen goods were recovered late Friday from a wooded location in the Leetown area. Item recovered included two four-wheelers, an outboard motor, a utility trailer, tool box and assorted tools.

Although no arrests had been made as of Monday, Hoda said, "I feel that at least three arrests will be made."

Assisting Hoda were Patrolman George Burleson and Auxiliary Deputy Nathan "Corky" Hoda.

In another burglary, unrelated to the two Leetown incidents, Hoda said a television has been recovered. Hancock County officials are working with Bay Police Department Detective Gus Aime and others, Hoda added.

TRAVELS

"Travels" returns to Mississippi ETV with a two-part journey across northern North America in "Last Train Across Canada," at 7 p.m. Sunday, Jan. 6.

Noted journalist and reconteur Murray Sayle undertakes what will be one of the last train journeys across Canada. The government is closing large sections of the transcontinental railroad, and Sayle records the end of an area. Along the way, he travels with a cross section of Canadian characters as he visits remote wilderness communities dependent on the train's link to civilization. The vistas he crosses, the towns he enters and the people he meets may never be visited by train again.

Training offered for tax assistance volunteers

If you enjoy helping other people, VITA (Volunteer Income Tax Assistance) may have just the opportunity you are looking for, according to the Internal Revenue Service.

VITA is a program that involves volunteers of all ages and from many walks of life to help people who need assistance in filling out their tax returns.

In addition to actually completing the simpler tax forms for taxpayers, VITA volunteers explain the special credits and deductions people may claim and calculate any refund that may be due them.

Volunteers receive free instructions and training materials at special seminars conducted across the state.

The Internal Revenue Service has scheduled a series of these training sessions for persons who want to volunteer to assist with the preparation of tax returns. The service and the training are free. The training is designed to cover the preparation of Forms 1040EZ and basic 1040A.

The 1991 VITA training schedule for Gulfport is Jan. 8-11 from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. at Westside Community Center, 4010 West Beach Boulevard. Persons desiring to attend VITA training classes should contact the Taxpayer Education Coordinator as soon as possible at (601) 965-4142 or 1-800-928-1040.

Mississippi school system.

Thomas began his service on the board with his first meeting last Monday during which student hearings were scheduled for the next week.

Student hearings are closed to the public and press to protect the privacy of the individual. But for that one child, standing before the members of the school board, the weight of a future life and its role in society is at stake. Fortunately, Thomas knows of the importance of this moment, as do all the board members.

"I believe in education," stated Thomas. "A lot of times, it's the parents that do not put forth enough concern for the children.

"I would like to see more discipline in the schools."

Thomas spoke of how people bring complaints to him, "like I can correct everything since I am on the board now. But there is more to it than that. Decisions have to be made and maintained, in accordance with policy."

Thomas is presently a construction superintendent with Tillman Construction Company in Pascagoula, he has worked in construction for 25 years.

He is the father of five children, two in college, one in cosmetology school and two in elementary school in Hancock County.

A yellow Christmas

KILLING TIME

By Traci Bonney

"I'm dreaming of a yellow Christmas . . ."

I don't know; for some reason, I don't think a song with those lyrics will catch on too well.

Even so, it was a yellow Christmas for me and my family. Mom and Bob's wife Jennifer wore little yellow ribbons, and the Christmas tree looked as though a yellow bow factory had exploded on it. As I looked at it, I thought about the reason for the change in decor — my brother Bob's being in Saudi Arabia — and wished Mom hadn't been given a cause to leave her usual red tree bows in storage.

As my father read "The Night Before Christmas" to his grandson (my nephew) Stephen, I stared at the tree, watching the way the white lights reflected off the icicles and noticing the addition of two brass tree ornaments — one for Stephen and the other for his baby sister Alivia.

I smiled at that; the two new ornaments bring the total to five — one each for Bob, Jeff and me, and the two for the grandchildren.

Then I noticed another new decoration, nestled under a streamer of the large bow Mom used to top the tree. It was a white dove, a plea for peace.

I wanted to cry as I thought about what Mom and Jennifer must have gone through while they decorated that tree. I wanted to cry because I wasn't there to go through it with them.

So, while no one wants to dream of a yellow Christmas, many of us just lived through one.

May the rest of your holiday season be blessed, and please keep the troops in your prayers. The soldiers need them.

Lott to chair GOP organizational committee

U.S. Senator Trent Lott of Mississippi will chair the Senate Republican Committee on Committees in the 102nd Congress.

Lott was appointed by Senate Republican Leader Robert Dole of Kansas during organizational meetings.

The Committee on Committees assigns Republican senators to the Senate's 16 standing committees: Agriculture, Appropriations, Armed Services, Banking, Budget, Commerce, Energy, Environment, Finance, Foreign Relations, Governmental Affairs, Judiciary, Labor, Rules, Small Business and Veterans' Affairs.

It is the responsibility of the chairman to fill the committee rosters with Republican senators based on seniority, regional representation and committee jurisdiction. Senators retain their committee assignments for two years.

The assignment marks the second leadership appointment for Lott since his election to the Senate in 1988. In January, the Mississippi senator was named to the six-member bipartisan elect Committee on Ethics which hears complaints against senators.

ACCIDENTAL SHOOTING

Hancock County Sheriff department Investigator Nathan Hoda reported that Roy Reed, 20, of Shoreline Park was accidentally shot by his uncle Michael Hanley, 39, of Lafitte, La., while deer hunting in Springwood Park on Monday, Dec. 24.

Hoda added, "Hanley said a deer ran out in front of him and as the deer was running, he was shooting and turning at the same time. The third shot hit Reed in the right side."

Sheriff department patrolman Leo Ladner answered the call, Hoda said. Reed was taken to Hancock Medical Center. Reed is presently at Memorial Hospital in Gulfport.

Sch Reed, the victim's wife, reported that the bullet entered through her husband's back, hit his chest and went down to his spinal cord where it lodged in a disk. She added that no surgery was performed because the doctors wish to wait and see if the bullet causes further problems.

"He's doing better," said Mrs. Reed. "He can move his legs more. They took him off the I.V. and he is eating solid foods." Pam Doster, a hospital spokesperson, stated that he is presently in fair condition and is being monitored.

Waveland Elementary students trim the tree at Delchamps

It's that time of year again—the holiday season is here! To kick off the festivities, Delchamps, Inc., the Mobile, Alabama-based supermarket chain, recently sponsored a trim-the-tree project in each of its 110 super markets.

Students from Waveland Elementary School took part locally and trimmed the tree at the Delchamps Super Market located at 318 U. S. Highway 90, Choctaw Plaza. The ten-foot tree is beautifully adorned with handmade ornaments, stockings, and garlands of every shape, color and size imaginable.

According to Delchamps director of advertising, George Waldron, each store manager contacted the elementary school located closest to his/her store and asked for participation in the trim-the-tree project. "We supplied the tree and the children supplied their imaginations," said Waldron.

Delchamps will display the trees through the New Year's holiday.

"QUOTABLE QUOTES"

By Ellis C. Cuevas

Safety is always a major concern for management of the CSX Railroad, and even moreso since there were three accidents involving vehicles and trains within one week at the same crossing in Pascagoula.

Each year there are hundreds killed and thousands injured in accidents involving vehicles and trains.

I have covered several train/vehicle accidents in our community and they are not a pretty sight to see. As recent as November, three young members of our community escaped serious injury and possibly even death at one of our local crossings.

The railroad offers an "Operation Lifesaver" program to organizations and groups. A speaker from the railroad will appear at no cost before any group that makes a request.

If your group is interested, contact G.T. Bowden at 205-434-1394.

Stop, look, listen and live at railroad crossings.

IN CONGRESS

By Rep. Gene Taylor

101st Congress: 'A classic case of winning ugly'

Summing up the 101st Congress, Speaker of the House Tom Foley said recently: "It is hard to say what is more remarkable about the 101st Congress, that lawmakers accomplished so much or that they looked so bad doing it."

The House adjourned at 12:02 a.m. CDT and the Senate adjourned at 12:17 CDT on Oct. 28. There were 6,963 bills and resolutions introduced during the marathon 279-day session. The result of all of the work was a total of 256 impressive new laws that redirected U.S. policy in a number of domestic areas.

Just to give a few specifics: The Clean Air Act amendments, enacted in 1990, marked the first major revision to that legislation in 13 years and the culmination of several years of effort. The measure sets out to reduce urban smog and auto emissions and addresses the problems of the release by certain industries of toxic air pollutants.

The Americans With Disabilities Act, enacted in 1990, authorizes a sweeping expansion of legal protections and rights for the disabled. In one proponent's words, the bill "offers simple justice to Americans who have literally been locked out of the mainstream of society for years."

The crime Control Act of 1990 addressed a wide range of crime problems including violent crime, drug abuse and "white collar crime" connected to the savings and loan scandals. The bill increases penalties for offenders and creates a "Victim's Bill of Rights."

Also in the 101st Congress, legislators, in a compromise with the President, increased the minimum wage. We repealed the flawed Catastrophic Coverage Act of 1988 and significantly strengthened federal regulations governing private "Medigap" health insurance. We provided a 4.7 cost of living increase to disabled veterans and families of veterans who died during service.

Despite the many successes, the 101st Congress is still described as "a classic case of winning ugly." Congress' many accomplishments were marred by scandals and resignations. Public fury over ethics scandals, however, paled in comparison to the collapse of public confidence over the 1991 budget reduction debacle.

Like a college student who writes a term paper the night before it is due, legislators raced to pull the five-year deficit reduction plan together. The last minute escapade was embarrassing even to members who are used to seeing Congress procrastinate this way, but for a freshman congressman like myself it was even more worrisome.

In a democracy such as ours, some issues are bound to divide Congress into its two distinct parties. And as Senate Majority Leader George Mitchell said, "It should not be surprising that differences which divided Congress for decades ultimately delayed us for months in the budget crisis."

Congress should learn from its mistakes in the 101st session, however, and never again allow political differences and procrastination to outweigh the good of the nation.

Another attack on free enterprise

Here comes another shot at the American free enterprise system.

Legislation is already being prepared for the 1991 Congress which would prohibit hiring of permanent replacements for strikers on labor management disputes.

In other words, the legislation would tie the hands of management in strike-related labor disputes and, at the same time, encourage strikes by employees with little or nothing to lose.

Think about the results of such legislation:

—The law would require employers to give preference to strikers over non-strikers in allocating jobs at the end of a dispute.

—The law would restrict the rights of individual workers by prohibiting an employer from granting any employment preference to a worker who crossed the picket line and returned to work. In short, the employer would be forced to discriminate against the worker who remained on the job or who returned to work before the strike ended.

—It would force an employer to shut down or sharply curtail operations during a strike because he would not be able to offer permanent work to employees replacing strikers.

Too bad those who make the free enterprise system work so well in America—both employers and employees—have to spend so much of their time defending the system which makes the United States the greatest nation on earth.

State/county district lines need to be redrawn in 1991

Next year—1991—is the year of the decennial reshuffling of seats at both the state legislative and county district levels. But whether or not it's going to get done in time for the Sept. 17 primaries appears very dicey.

If legislative and county elections are delayed beyond the September statewide primaries, how that might play into the gubernatorial race is already a subject of political speculation.

Both the state legislature and county boards of supervisors must reapportion themselves to reflect population shifts in the 1990 census.

The Legislature is under a legal mandate that if it fails to reapportion itself, it will be done automatically by a five-member commission including the Senate president pro tempore, the speaker of the House, the attorney general, the secretary of state and the chief justice of the state Supreme Court.

Or if the Legislature does redistrict, and the plan is not within equal population norms or is racially discriminatory, it can be contested in federal court as has happened in previous legislative reapportionments.

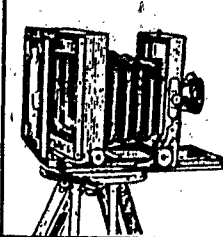

Each county board of supervisors is left to redraw districts itself, but failure to do so could result in a federal court injunction against holding elections until the county's districts are properly reapportioned.

If many counties drag their feet on redistricting, it's possible a federal court may enjoin county supervisors' elections statewide, which would result in supervisors running at a different time than state elections.

Right now the odds appear better than even that the Legislature will not be able to come up with a reapportionment plan before the scheduled adjournment of the 90-day 1991 session on April 7.

—Hundreds of Poor Children receive Gifts from Christmas Tree - Made Possible Through Thoughtfulness and Generosity of Brother Peter—Assisted by Numerous Friends, Who made This Annual Event Possible. On Monday afternoon the first real evidence that Christmas was here made itself known by the hundreds of happy, smiling children who swarmed the sidewalks returning from St. Stanislaus College where his royal highness, Santa Claus, held sway for the day and gladdened the hearts of many youngsters who would not otherwise have known that the Christmas season is here. After the over 500 boys and girls found seats in the gym, Brother Peter, and in a happy and jovial manner told them of the arduous trip Santa had coming through battle-torn European countries, stating the reindeer could not accompany him on this hazardous trip because of their fright of the many bombs the Germans are dropping over England. He reminded the children of the great gift of peace which they enjoyed here in America and told them how grateful they should be for the wonderful land in which they live.

—Last Monday night the Bay St. Louis Lodge of Odd Fellows, entertained as visitors the Hon. M. Evans, Lieutenant Governor of the State of Mississippi, and the Hon. M. Stewart of Moss Point, both prominent Odd Fellows and our boys about town are elated (justly so) to have had a call from these distinguished gentlemen. Both addressed the Lodge on the benefits of Odd Fellows and its daily missions of love to the widows and orphans. Odd Fellows are today cast out of the walls of our Catholic Churches and naturally enough their families will cling to their protectors and sever their allegiance with those who without cause brand their dear one with the charge of plotting the downfall of the church. A greater wrong has never been perpetrated and its worst feature is to assert a thing which, every Odd Fellow denies upon his sacred honor. That men who bond together as a benevolent brotherhood and who are unsectarian in all things, so much so, that religious discussions are prohibited by the rules of the order, should be pointed to as "wrong doing," were I not charitably inclined toward our accusers, I would hurl back to them their unwarranted assault and term their course as infamous." The whole of that unjust accusation, of which a more detailed description of it would nauseate the stoutest heart. I care not how much venom this effort at self defense may arouse, it could never excite my assailors any more than they have excited my efforts at vindication. Odd Fellows would not entertain any project intended for the overthrow of the most barbaric religious belief, much less injure the cause of the religion of our fathers. In bidding farewell to your readers let me add, that when man goes to his last home, however great or small he may be, however high or low his station, all must meet upon a common level and all submit to the dominion of death. How cheerless would be the home of the dead if it were not relieved by the prospect of immortal life; but hope bends over man's last resting place a bow, bright with immortality which based upon this earth, extends far into the sacred realms of eternity, the kingdom of a merciful father.

Odd Fellow.

Sheriff offers tips to ward off burglars

BY TRACI BONNEY

Common sense, not heroics, is the key to holiday safety, according to Hancock County Sheriff Ronald Peterson.

Peterson suggested that those leaving for extended periods during the Christmas/New Year's season let the neighbors know they will be gone; leave their lights, radio or television; make sure all windows and doors are securely locked; temporarily stop delivery of the newspaper and have a neighbor or relative pick up the mail; and light the area outside the house well.

"A burglar is more likely to get paranoid and not break into a house if all the outside lights are on," Peterson said.

Investigator Nathan Hoda added the suggestion that those leaving ask a relative to go in and change the interior lighting once in a while, switching some lights off and others on, so that the same lights are not on the entire weekend or week.

If a break-in occurs while you are at home, Peterson said, you should dial 911 if possible. "This is an emergency, and the police will respond to it," he stated.

If the burglar enters the house before the police arrive, Peterson said the occupant has the right to do whatever is necessary to protect himself and his property.

However, he urged that you not attempt to disarm an armed robber if you have no weapon of your own. "The property he's taking is not worth your life," Peterson declared.

He said the best thing to do is try to remain calm, be cautious and go along with what the burglar wants, and try to memorize a description of the burglar and his car tag if possible. "If you get his car tag, you have his name," Peterson added that you can help avoid burglary of your vehicle by making sure you leave nothing of value in plain sight and by locking all the doors when you leave the vehicle.

"I tell people if they have packages of purses they want to leave behind, they should put them in the trunk."

"Again, just using good common sense is the best thing you can do to have a safer holiday."

Railroad crossing safety emphasized by program

Look, listen and live at railroad crossings. That's the word from officials with Operation Lifesaver, a public awareness and education program aimed at preventing and reducing crashes, injuries and fatalities at the nation's 300,000 public and private railroad crossings.

Thousands of people are seriously injured and hundreds are killed in nearly 6,000 railroad crossing accidents each year. Many drivers don't cross railroad tracks often enough to be familiar with devices designed for their safety.

Often they are not aware that trains cannot stop as quickly as motor vehicles to avoid a collision. Others simply ignore all warnings because they are in a hurry and would rather try to beat the train than wait.

Driver ignorance and impatience are the most common factors contributing to crossing collisions.

Any person or organization is welcome to join in Operation Lifesaver. To get involved at the local level doing whatever possible to help educate motorists that they need to exercise greater care at railroad crossings.

Get involved by contacting Operation Lifesaver for more information, or a free speaker at your PTA, church, club, civic or fraternal organization, contact G. T. Bowden at 205-434-1394.

'Best of Mississippi Roads' featured on Educational TV

The former keeper of Mississippi's archives, a Gulf Coast tribute to its Scottish heritage and a visit to a restaurant in the heart of the Delta are featured on the next edition of "The Best of Mississippi Roads," Thursday, Jan. 3 at 8 p.m. on Mississippi ETV. This episode originally aired in October, 1989.

Charlotte Capers of Jackson was director of the Mississippi Department of Archives and History from 1938 to 1969. Through interviews with Capers and her friends, former governor William Winter and author Eudora Welty, we learn about Capers' dedication to the state of Mississippi and hear about some interesting experiences she has had through the years.

MISSISSIPPI
MISSISSIPPI ETV

Next, "Roads" visits the Gulf Coast's Highland Games. The coast of Mississippi has a rich Scottish heritage, which is celebrated on "Roads" with demonstrations of highland dancing by Rebecca McConnell of Ohio and Christie Uguhart of New Orleans.

David C. Rogers of Perkinson demonstrates the use of highland border collies in herding cattle, and the festival features athletics, arts and crafts and Celtic music.

Next, "Mississippi Roadtrip" takes viewers to the Rainwater Observatory in French Camp. James Hill, founder of the French Camp Rainwater Astronomers Association, talks about the origins of the observatory from homemade telescopes and renovated buildings that were moved to the present location.

From these beginnings, astronomy classes have started and a Junior Association has been formed. The association sponsors viewings by church groups and holds "star parties" for the public.

The final destination on "The Best of Mississippi Roads" this week is the Booga Bottom restaurant near Clarksdale. Viewers meet the cook, the late Mildred Burkes, affectionately known as "Teddy Bear," and hear about her life and times in this lean-to restaurant, situated at a crossroads on US-61 in the Mississippi Delta.

WILDLIFE FUND
The Wildlife Heritage Fund's Income Tax Check-off program is examined on the next edition of "Mississippi Outdoors," Thursday, Jan. 3 at 7:30 p.m.

The program will be repeated Friday, Jan. 4 at 6:15 a.m. and Saturday, Jan. 5 at 5:30 p.m.

The check-off program allows taxpayers to designate all or part of their income tax refunds to the Wildlife Heritage Fund, which helps endangered and rare species.

"Outdoors" host Melvin Tingle and guests Dr. Joe Fitzpatrick, professor of biology at the University of South Alabama, and Dr. Ted Simons of Ocean Springs, a research scientist with the National Park Service, journey to Horn Island for a look at the eagle hacking tower. They then travel to Lauderdale County's Big Reed Creek for a look at a rare species of crawfish.

Studio guests include Bill Quisenberry of Clinton, office director at the MDWFP; Ken Gordon of Jackson, Natural Heritage Program research coordinator; and Dr. Sam Rosso of Hattiesburg, biology professor at the University of Southern Mississippi.

A co-production of the Mississippi Department of Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks and the Mississippi Educational Television Network, "Mississippi Outdoors" is underwritten by Mississippi Power & Light and International Paper.

Bay Area Youth Soccer now registering for spring season

Bay Area Youth Soccer is now accepting registration for the spring recreational and select soccer seasons. Anyone now registered from the fall season does not have to re-register. However, anyone who did not play in the fall season and would like to play soccer in the spring season may register to do so now.

Registration is open for all youths ages 5-18 for both boys and girls.

The regular spring season for the BAYS League will begin the first week in January, with games to begin on Jan. 12 for Under-8 and Under-10 and Jan. 19 for Under-6 and other age groups.

The regular BAYS spring season will end the end of March with post season games and district competition to be held in April.

Due to a vacancy on the Bay Area Youth Soccer board, Richard Flowers has been appointed vice-president, to fill that office, and Art Rieben has been appointed to serve as girls commissioner.

Anyone interested in registering for the spring season should contact Richard Flowers at 467-0474 or Virginia Kenny at 467-4989 or see any BAYS board member.

Passport a gift idea for frequent park-goers

A Golden Eagle Passport could be "just the ticket" that solves that "what do I buy for the person who has everything" problem this holiday season.

The passport costs $25 and is good for free entry to federal recreation areas, parks and wildlife refuges for the whole year.

National Park Service (NPS) officials believe visits to the nation's 358 National Park System areas could set records during 1991—the year in which the NPS will celebrate its 75th anniversary.

Since entrance fees range from $1 to $4 a person, a $3 to $10 a carload, frequent visitors can quickly realize a savings.

Golden Eagle Passport holders are granted access to those national parks, monuments, historic sites, recreation areas, national wildlife refuges and all other federally operated outdoor recreation areas that charge entrance fees.

The annual permit admits not only the passport holder, but also any accompanying passengers in a single private vehicle. Where entry is not by private vehicle, the passport admits the holder, spouse, children and parents.

The passports are for persons 17-61 years old who are not disabled. They may be purchased by mail or in person at NPS, U.S. Fish & Wildlife Service, and U.S. Forest Service headquarters and regional offices. In addition, they are available wherever entrance fees are charged. A personal check or money order for $25 should be made payable to "National Park Service."

Persons at least 62 years old, or persons who are blind or disabled, are eligible for free lifetime Golden Age or Golden Access Passports. These passports must be obtained in person, and therefore can't be purchased by mail.

The Golden Age and Golden

Access passports not only grant free entry, but also qualify the holder for a 50 percent discount on federal user fees charged for facilities and services, such as camping and boat launching. Reasonable proof of eligibility must be furnished. Children under 17 years old are admitted free at all parks.

While entry to many federal parks, refuges, and facilities is free to all persons, several other areas have entrance fees, special recreation permit fees, or some combination of the two.

The fees collected help provide better recreation opportunities and support the conservation of natural resources and are mandated by the Land and Water Conservation Fund Act of 1965 and the Emergency Wetlands Resources Act of 1986.

Further information is available at the National Park Service's Southeast Regional Office, 75 Spring St., S.W., Atlanta, GA 30303.

Gas saving tips for boaters offered

Both motorists and boat owners will feel the pinch of the nickel per gallon increase in the federal excise tax on gas.

The increase will cost the nation's boaters an added $50 million per year. However, half of the tax collected will be deposited in the Aquatic Resources (Wallop/Breaux) Trust Fund. This fund is used to support state and Coast Guard boating safety, education and law enforcement efforts.

To cope with the rising prices of gas, BOAT/US, the nation's largest organization of recreational boat owners, offers these simple fuel-saving tips:

1) Make sure the engine is properly tuned.

2) Use the correct propeller size. Replace props with damaged blades.

3) Clean the bottom of the boat. Barnacles, weeds, etc. can be the most serious threat to engine performance.

4) Extra weight reduces performance. Don't carry more gas or water than you need for an outing. Drain the bilges. Store unneeded supplies and equipment ashore.

5) As you "trim" the boat, maintain RPMs at the level recommended by the manufacturer.

6) Reduce wind resistance by keeping canvas bow shelters and bimini tops down and furlled until needed for protection from the elements.

7) Take advantage of favorable tides and currents.

Three local residents earn Coast Guard licenses

After completing specialized training courses conducted by Biloxi Marine Training School, three local area residents have recently been licensed and/or certified by the U.S. Coast Guard. Most participants are either anticipating entry into the Marine/Offshore Industry, which requires documentation as Merchant Marines, or are upgrading their positions within the industry.

They include Robert Trosclair AB/LB, Pass Christian; Jules Bentley, 50/Ton Capt., Pass Christian; and Thomas Hawkins AB/LB, Pass Christian.

The majority of the participants are local shrimpers/fishermen who, for economic reasons, have had to re-direct their experience and expertise to other areas of the marine industry.

State park reservations to begin on Jan. 2

Reservations for vacation cabins at Mississippi State Parks for 1991 will be accepted beginning at 8 a.m. on Jan. 2.

Reservations may be made by contacting the individual park office during regular business hours, 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Cabin reservations are not required but are strongly recommended.

Dr. John King, director of the Division of Parks and Recreation, has listed the rules that apply to cabin reservations:

1. One person may not make reservations for more than five cabins for one date, unless special approval is given by the district manager to accommodate family reunions or similar events.

2. Reservations may be made for only one set-of dates at a time.

3. First priority will be given to in-person requests, followed by telephone requests, and letters postmarked after Jan. 1.

Minimum stay for the heavy use season—Memorial Day weekend through Labor Day weekend—is three nights. There is a two-night minimum during other times of the year. Maximum stay during the heavy-use season is 14 days.

State parks with vacation cabins are Clarkco, Quitman; George Payne Cossar, Oakland; Holmes County, Durant; Hugh White, Grenada; J. P. Coleman, Iuka; John W. Kyle, Sardis; Lake Lowndes, Columbus; Leroy Percy, Hollandale; Natchez, Natchez; Paul B. Johnson, Hattiesburg; Percy Quin, McComb; Roosevelt, Morton; Legion, Louisville; Tishomingo, Tupelo; Trace, Belden; and Wall Doxey, Holly Springs.

King also reminds park visitors that pets are not allowed in the cabin area.

For a complete list of state parks, their facilities, rates, addresses, and telephone number, write Department of Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks, Public Information, P. O. Box 451, Jackson, MS 39205-0451, or telephone (601) 364-2120.

Symphony for kids features 'Symphonasaurus'

"Symphonasaurus"—the creation of actor-singer-dancer-composer John Burstein—will be the second in the New Orleans Symphony's Discovery

Series of concerts for children on Saturday, Jan. 5. The performance begins at 11 a.m. at the Orpheum Theater. In "Symphonasaurus," the audience participates as Slim Goodbody, in the guise of dancing, singing dinosaurs in fantastic costumes, cavorts on stage.

The program includes excerpts from well-known symphonic works by Aaron Copeland, Tchaikovsky, Beethoven and Bartok, as well as original compositions by Burstein such as "Duckbill Serenade," "Dinosaur Days," "Terrible Tyrone" and "Farewell, It's Time for the Mammals."

The concert is best suited for children in kindergarten through sixth grades. Resident conductor William Curry will conduct the orchestra.

Burstein, known professionally as Slim Goodbody, appeared in New Orleans during the 1989-90 season as guest artist at the October Kinder Konzerts. He appeared in a regular feature on the Captain Kangaroo Show and had a series on Nickelodeon.

"Symphonasaurus" is the second in the Symphony's series of three Discovery concerts.

In the third, on Feb. 23, the New Orleans Symphony will accompany the Komenka Dance Ensemble in a program entitled "Folk Music and Dancing from Around the World." Resident Conductor William Curry will conduct.

For information or to charge tickets, call the Ticketmaster at 522-5555; call the Symphony Box Office at 525-0500, Monday through Friday, 10 a.m. through 3 p.m.; or visit the Symphony's Customer Service Office at 212 Loyola Avenue, fifth floor.

Single tickets are priced from $4 to $12.

Arts scholarships

Mulch your worries away

Many headaches, back-aches, costly sprays and laborious hours have been greatly reduced with the use of mulch in the home vegetable and landscape garden.

In addition to reducing the amount of physical and mental anguish, mulch serves a significant process in plant development:

- (1) by protecting the roots from heat, cold or drought,
- (2) keeping the fruit and flowers clean and free of diseases,
- (3) preventing soil erosion,
- (4) controlling weeds,
- (5) helping make the home garden more aesthetically pleasing and
- (6) making a higher yielding vegetable garden.

Mulch comes in an array of materials, but they can be lumped into two categories: natural and synthetic.

Natural mulches include materials like straw, hay (be sure it is clean) compost (sawdust, woodshavings, leaves, grass clippings, rice hulls, ground corn cobs or animal manures), composted bark and pine needles.

So do not discard these materials and needlessly fill our limited landfills, but save them for use as an inexpensive form of mulch.

Synthetic mulches, on the other hand, are man-made materials that include plastics and papers.

Natural mulches are generally spread around individual plants or over the entire growing area in a layer of 2 to 5 inches after the plants have emerged or following the planting of transplants.

Homeowners should be reminded that since pine straw, hay and straw are light and airy a 4-5 inch deep layer is necessary for these materials to be effective.

Natural mulches are primarily advantageous during the summer months since they offer protection to the soil from compacting rains, compacting foot traffic, drying winds and heat. However, they are also very good to place around ornamentals during the winter.

Mulch at this time should not be used until after the soil cools since it could keep the soil too warm and promote continued growth. The new growth could possibly be killed during sudden temperature reductions. Mulches also control weeds by reducing the amount of light reaching the weed seed or seedlings.

Believe me, when you alleviate those pesky weeds, the competition for light, water and nutrients is greatly reduced. Not only is competition reduced but mulches protect the shallow-rooted garden and landscape plants from cultivation with the dreaded one-eyed-Sally, a tool commonly referred to as a hoe. Yes, the fewer cultivations, the less chance of root damage.

The one advantage organic mulches have over the synthetic forms is that they do not impede soil water absorption which greatly reduces the frequency of watering. Another asset of natural mulches is that they have some fertilizer values and are good soil conditioners when incorporated into the soil. Remember that mulches, like pine needles and oak leaves, are acidic, so when using these materials be sure to regularly test your soil to keep the pH up around plants that require basic soils.

These mulches also maintain cooler soil temperatures which encourage root growth in the upper soil layer where there is an abundance of oxygen and fertilizer.

However, this apparent attribute may be detrimental during drought periods since the soil dries quicker at the surface where the majority of roots are localized.

Organic mulches, as well as synthetic materials, also reduce erosion and soil-borne diseases. These mulches also keep the soils warm during the winter and protect the roots from freezes and sudden temperature fluctuations.

Home vegetable and landscape gardeners should be aware that organic mulches like sawdust, wood shavings and ground corn cobs require different fertilizer attention since they are low in nitrogen.

Because of this factor, they tend to remove soil nitrogen as the mulch decomposes. This may cause the vegetables and landscape plants to become yellow and production reduced.

To prevent this, the homeowner should add one-fourth pound ammonium nitrate or its equivalent to each bushel of sawdust, shavings or corn cobs before applying the mulch.

However, do not apply nitrogen to this mulch during the winter since the nitrogen could promote additional growth and predispose it to winter kill. In the vegetable garden, side dressing with fertilizers is often important and this may be difficult with the presence of a mulch.

So be sure to pull the mulch back to ensure that adequate levels of fertilizer reach the soil. However, when using sawdust, compost or bark, the fertilizer should be applied to the bark surface and thoroughly watered.

When using organic mulches, the home gardener should know that this mulch should not be applied until the soil has warmed in the spring, cooled in the fall, until the plants are large enough and that these mulches are flammable when dry.

Synthetic plastic mulches are considered as a springtime mulch since they warm the soil which permits earlier planting, rapid growth and earlier harvest if a late freeze doesn't catch you. Black plastic is the most commonly used plastic, is widely available, relatively inexpensive and comes in various widths and lengths. When selecting a plastic mulch, get one that is 1.5 mils (.0015 inches) thick. Remember, clear plastic does not prevent the germination of weed seeds, and I usually do not recommend this material.

Several warm-season vegetables (cucumber, melons, squash, tomatoes, pepper, eggplant) are more productive when grown on black plastic mulch than on the bare soil. Cool-season vegetables such as cabbage, broccoli and cauliflower also do well since the plastic promotes earlier growth.

Another attribute of black plastic is that it can be used to form row "tunnels" which can promote early growth, promote early harvest and in some cases protect against late freezes.

Using black plastic as a mulch might be somewhat different from what you are accustomed to, so here are some tips about using it.

The soil should be totally prepared before the plastic is put down. However, the plastic should not be installed unless there is adequate soil moisture and there is little or no wind.

One end of the plastic should be buried, then it should be unrolled down the row as straight as possible and the remaining edges covered. When only covering individual rows, a 3 to 4 foot wide piece of plastic will suffice but wider sheets can be purchased to cover many gardens in their entirety.

However, the larger sheets make watering difficult and can be slippery when wet. After installing the plastic use a sharpened bulb planter to cut the holes to plant vegetables.

Yes, plastic mulch does conserve soil moisture but during period of drought supplemental watering is often difficult. Therefore it may be desirable to install a drip irrigation system or soaker hose on top of the row before covering the rows. Like water, fertilizer is also conserved due to the reduction in leaching, but when fertilizer is necessary then add it to the planting holes and upside down "T" slits cut at intervals along the plastic.

Plastic does promote quicker soil warming in the spring but this factor can cause severe plant injury during the summer months due to the excess soil heat that is generated.

Do not become discouraged yet, since a layer of pine needles, hay or straw can prevent this.

Spraying the black plastic with white latex paint after the mulch is installed or after the removal of an early crop can also reduce the heat buildup without hindering the other benefits. Remember, plastic is not quickly degraded and adds rotting to the soil.

Newspaper is another material that can be used and is both organic and synthetic and makes a good mulch when several sheets are used. The newspaper should be applied after the plants are established and should be held to the soil surface with sticks, soil, coat hangers, wire, or pine needles.

A plus for using newspapers is that they decompose and add organic matter to the soil. So folks, here is a use for all those old Sea Coast Echos laying around the house. Newspapers are even better as mulches when they are printed with the biodegradable soybean ink.

Remember your local nurserymen are trained and there to help you with your plant problems. So until next week, this is Randy Smith saying, "You don't spit into the wind, you don't pull on Superman's cape, and you don't scrimp on those mulches."

OPERATION LIFESAVER

LOOK, LISTEN
AND LIVE

Look, listen and live at railroad crossings. That's the word from officials with Operation Lifesaver, a public awareness and education program aimed at preventing and reducing crashes, injuries and fatalities at the nation's 300,000 public and private railroad crossings.

Thousands of people are seriously injured and hundreds are killed in nearly 6,000 railroad crossing accidents each year. Many drivers don't cross railroad tracks often enough to be familiar with devices designed for their safety. Often they are not aware that trains cannot stop as quickly as motor vehicles to avoid a collision. Others simply ignore all warnings because they are in a hurry and would rather try to beat the train than wait. Driver ignorance and impatience are the most common factors contributing to crossing collisions.

Any person or organization is welcome to join in Operation Lifesaver. To get involved at the local level doing whatever possible to help educate motorists that they need to exercise greater care at railroad crossings.

Get involved by contacting Operation Lifesaver. For more information, or a free speaker at your PTA, Church, Club, Civic or Fraternal Organization Contact Mr. G.T. Bowden 205-434-1394.

Stennis oceanographic office recognized for Gulf of Mexico effort

The Naval Oceanographic Office's Operational Oceanography Center (OOC), located at the Stennis Space Center, has received a plaque for its contributions to marine science in the Gulf of Mexico from the

U.S. Minerals Management Service (MMS) Gulf of Mexico OCS Region. Rear Admiral James E. Koehr, Commander, Naval Oceanography Command, accepted the award during the

1990 Information Transfer Meeting (ITM) held in New Orleans on Nov. 15. This occasion marked the first time the MMS has presented such an award. From December 1989 to May 1990, the OOC daily provided fronts and eddy information for the MMS's newly established electronic bulletin board which disseminates operational oceanographic analyses for the Gulf of Mexico.

Specially recognized for their efforts were OOC personnel Commander Chris Hall of Slidell, Zaaron Allen of Long Beach, Bill Burnett of Bay St. Louis and Bob Coulter of New Orleans.

The OOC routinely provides tailored oceanographic analyses of current satellite imagery for tactical use by the U.S. Navy.

The Naval Oceanographic Office is the largest component of the Naval Oceanography Command, a worldwide organization comprised of approximately 3,000 personnel at some 65 units and aboard 12 oceanographic survey vessels and three aircraft.

The command's headquarters is also located at the Stennis Space Center.

CONSUMER UPDATE

Home equity loans

By Janet K. Lukens
Area Consumer
Management Specialist

Tax deductions for consumer interest are fully phased out as of January 1991. As this interest deduction has been lost, consumers have flocked to deductible home equity loans. By using your home as collateral, you are able to buy a car, pay off credit cards and bank loans, and still deduct the interest on home-equity loans up to $100,000.

Now only 30 percent of all home equity loans actually pay for home improvements. Another 28 percent of home equity loan dollars pay for debt consolidations and cars and trucks.

The remainder of these type loans finance business ventures, vacations, medical expenses, education and miscellaneous spending.

Some households have laden themselves with more mortgage debt than they can handle as we face falling real estate values and cutbacks in business and government. They may even risk foreclosure if they cannot make payments on both 1st mortgage and home-equity obligations.

The key to protecting yourself is to be careful, even wary when you borrow.

Home-equity loans and 2nd mortgages are available from a variety of sources including banks, savings institutions, credit unions, finance companies, brokerage houses, and insurance companies.

They may be fixed installment loans or lines of credit against which you can borrow as you need the money. Payment terms and structures vary on home-equity lines of credit and should be checked carefully.

Interest rates on lines of credit are usually adjustable. This means the interest rate will fluctuate with some index such as the prime rate for commercial loans, the 90-day Treasury bill rate, or the average 30-day $100,000 CD rate.

Your home equity loan rate would be set at slightly above the index rate and would move up and down as the index moved.

The less responsive to market fluctuations in interest rates your index is, the less volatile your interest rate will be. For example, a loan with the prime rate as the index would be less likely to move as much or as often as loans with the Treasury or CD rates as indexes.

Federal law does require an interest rate cap or upper limit to be set on adjustable rate loans.

These caps are set by the lender and therefore vary. Currently they average 19 percent. In addition to checking interest rates and indexes, ask about any additional yearly fees which you would be charged with your home-equity loan.

Closing costs or up-front fees add additional charges to some home-equity loans. They may include property appraisal fees, attorney fees, cost of a credit check, and title insurance. Shop around on these fees also as some may be waived as lenders become more competitive.

When using a home-equity loan, be conservative in the purposes for which you borrow. Avoid using this type loan to provide luxuries.

Set up payments in which you pay more than interest. Though some institutions will allow an interest only option, you never make progress toward paying off the debt this way. As new family needs appear, you will be less able to provide for them.

Set up a payment schedule which will have the debt paid in 10 years or less. Beware of loan rates that start low but have the potential for increasing drastically in later years.

Determine the amount which you will borrow based on payments you can afford to make, not on what the bank will lend. It is often helpful to construct a family budget around the new payment before entering into the agreement.

A recommended percentage guideline is not to exceed 35 percent of gross monthly income with total monthly mortgage payments.

For more information on this subject, contact the Consumer Money Management Center at 2710 Beach Blvd., Suite 1-E, Biloxi, MS 39531 or (601) 388-4710.

A PROVEN SOLUTION TO KIDNEY STONE PROBLEMS!

More than two million people have had kidney stones removed without a scratch.

Lithotripsy is a proven, cost-effective and much less painful alternative to surgical removal of kidney stones, utilizing a special technique to disintegrate the stones.

Slidell Memorial Hospital is proud to announce the availability of a state-of-the-art "bath-less" Lithotripter for management of kidney stones. A series of quick, short waves reduce the stones to sand-sized particles that easily pass through the patient's urine.

The advantages include lower cost, shorter recovery time and better patient tolerance. The "bath-less" technique has the added advantage of an environment that maintains your privacy, as you are not required to be completely unclothed at the time of the procedure. Because it is so efficient, treatment usually requires less than one hour and can be performed on an outpatient basis, allowing you to resume everyday activities shortly after discharge.

If you're already suffering from kidney stones, why suffer a painful recovery from surgery when there is a fast, effective non-surgical alternative. For more information about this exciting procedure, please call 646-0044.

Ziegeler attends seminar

Wes Ziegeler, owner of Gateway Body Shop completed a color tinting and matching course at the Dupont Customer Training Center in New Orleans, La.

Topics included seeing color in three dimensions, understanding tinting colors and using Dupont spectrum shading tips.

Also completed was a one and a half week in-shop, hands-on training on the use and application techniques of Dupont Cronar, the most advanced paint system ever developed.

Cronar has the highest distinctness of images in the industry.

It is formulated in one-tenth gram increments providing precise color matching, and the Cronar clears enhance durability by screening ultra-violet rays more effectively.
